

Cain's Wife:

She was either one of Adam & Eve's daughters [probably the first born daughter] or one of their grandchildren & Cain's niece. The Bible doesn't say. I'm assuming that she was one of Cain's sisters.

When did she marry Cain? The Bible doesn't make that clear. I am assuming that she was already married to him by the time Cain murdered Able. Somebody either heard or knew about the conversation between him & Able before he murdered him. Most likely it was her & she was the one who eventually reported it.

After Cain left Eden, she was probably the one who kept in touch with the rest of the family. She must have had a really hard life

- a) because she had to leave all she knew to be Cain's wife.
- b) When a guy is feeling guilty about something, he tries to build himself up in his own eyes by tearing down the closest ones to him. My guess was that he probably criticized her about everything she did. No matter what she did, it didn't please him. If she was a tough chick, she would have put her foot down & told him to cut it out! On the other hand, if she was like most women, she probably suffered greatly for it.
- c) She may have thought that Cain's way was right, & God's way was wrong. If this was the case, maybe that's why she went with him in the first place. Maybe he convinced her that he was right & God was wrong. [Where have we heard that one before?]

Are there any people alive today who are her & Cain's descendants? No! All their descendants died in the Flood.

What about that theory that says that the sons of God were Seth's descendants & the daughters of men were Cain's descendants? {Genesis 6: 1-8), It's not true. If you read the Hebrew section in the 'Turning over every stone section', you will find that the sons of God were angels. [And maybe because people used to believe that theory, it gave them an excuse to ostracize some people groups.]
